|--------------------------|---|
| Description | Biotin binds to the biotin-binding pockets of streptavidin, Strep-Tactin[®], and Strep-Tactin[®]XT with different affinities. As a result, it allows the efficient elution of Strep-tag[®]II or Twin-Strep-tag[®] fusion proteins from Strep-Tactin[®]XT, while maintaining the reusability of the resin. It can be used for preparation of Strep-Tactin[®]XT elution buffer, Buffer BXT. In addition, biotin can be used for elution of biotinylated proteins from Strep-Tactin[®], where it binds irreversibly to the resin. Hence, Strep-Tactin[®] cannot be regenerated in this kind of application. |
| Full Name/CAS-No. | Biotin (vitamin B7, vitamin H, coenzyme R), 58-85-5 |
